Developer Operating Rules

- Build the website from reusable templates and CMS modules; do not hand-code individual pages that should inherit a template.
- The URL map below is the source of truth. Any route marked dynamic means the same template must support unlimited valid slugs.
- Do not publish placeholder claims, reviews, customer names, press logos, addresses, phone numbers, payment methods, delivery promises or sustainability statements.
- Every product, category, collection, room, article, project and policy must have a canonical URL and be manageable through CMS/admin.
- Desktop, tablet and mobile must be deliberately designed. Mobile is not a shrunken desktop.
- All image/video examples in this guide show the visual type/composition. Production must use genuine Premium Crafts product, factory, customer or project media where the claim depends on authenticity.
- Country, currency, taxes/duties, shipping, returns and warranty messaging must be market-aware.
- No page may end in a dead end: search, categories, alternatives, support or a meaningful CTA should always remain available.

BUILD PRIORITY: Homepage -> Navigation/Search -> Category Landing -> PLP -> PDP -> Quick View -> Cart -> Checkout -> Account -> Shop the Look -> Customization -> Design Services -> Trade -> Content/Brand -> Help/International -> Remaining states.

Definition of Done - Do Not Launch Until Verified

- No navigation/footer/mega-menu link points to a placeholder or dead route.
- Locked Premius Crafts logo remains unchanged everywhere.

- All images have responsive sources and useful alt text; production media is optimized.
- All forms validate server-side and display accessible errors/success.
- CMS permissions, audit logs, redirects, SEO fields and scheduling work.
- Analytics events are verified in a test environment.

- Core Web Vitals and accessibility checks pass on desktop and mid-range mobile.
- Legal/privacy/cookie/payment/shipping/returns/warranty content is reviewed for the markets actually launched.

HANDOFF RULE: This guide is the website development baseline. If a future decision removes a category or service, mark it disabled in the architecture rather than silently deleting dependent links. If a new feature is added, update the sitemap + template mapping + CMS/data requirements together.
